Dear Rising K5 Parents,

Summer is upon us and we hope you all have a fun filled summer, taking trips, going to the beach and enjoying time with your children. While summer should be fun, we also feel it is important to work on skills needed for a successful year in Five-Year-Old-Kindergarten. It has been proven that during summer break children can lose many skills they mastered during the school year. Attached is a "Summer Learning" packet that all rising 5K students will be receiving. A calendar is provided that gives daily skills for your child to work on to keep their brains engaged and a daily routine established. It also contains an Alphabet and Number book to reinforce letter and number recognition/formation. Continued practice with scissors, playing with playdough, Alphabet and Number Bingo are just a few more examples of things that are easy to do as well. We also encourage reading to your child over the summer. Trips to the library can be a fun adventure for a child. Children that are read to develop a strong sense of cognitive, emotional and language development, and a love for reading as well. While this packet is not mandatory, we highly recommend utilizing some of it to be ready for 5K.

Have a wonderful summer and we look forward to seeing new faces at the beginning of school.

Grace and blessings,
Deanna Fuller
